The News in Brief.

The telegraph informs us of a stabbing affray near Oshkosh, in which Alfren Tuckzn, while assisting the Deputy Sheriff of Winnebago Co., to secure some grain on attachment, was fatally wourded by the owner of the grain, a man named Rookes. The charges against Collector Shoemaker, of Detroit, to which we alluded some time ago, are under consideration at Washington, and according to the Herald's correspondent they are likely to result in his removal. The charges are such, that if substantiated, they will render the Collector liable to criminal indictment. The Michigan Democracy are

In those years we speak of, Russia the great wheat growing country, was at war, and her ports of ingress and degress were blockaded and she only supplied her own army with breadstuffs, and Odessa, the greatest grain mart in the world, was in a comparative quietus. England, France and Holland at the time, were not so favored by Providence in abundant crops as America had to spare was greedily taken up for foreign consumption. But it is not so now. But the above is not the only cause for "hard times." Money is the medium and representative of a prosperous nation. But There has our money gone?

The clearences and arrivals of vessels to our ports tell the story if you rightly read it. For instance, since January 1 to August 1, 1859, some hing over forty million dollars in specie have been exported from New York to Europe, against eighteen and a half millions for a corresponding time in the ten years previous. Again, the steamer Persia took out on one trip over three and a half millions in specie, the largest shipment by any single steamer ever before made from an American port. Again, that more coin has found its way to New York and Boston in the last four months than ever has done before. Again that in one week was imported to the New York market-goods-nick-nacks-stuffsgew-gaws-and luxuries to the amount of siz Adieu to all. millions, and in the same time, three millions of specie went out to help fill the gap the goods had made to the owners. But, as is often the case, they are disappointed; then they turn and complain of Special Desputch to the Missouri Democra disappointed; then they turn and compitain of the meagerness of the American wealth, and the want of American confidence. Bah! Let them not depend too much upon their American cousins to be cozen'd in this double way. The fact is, if we were as exclusive as the Japanese once were, and had a wall three thousand feet thick, extending from a north range of Lake Superior to the base of the Rocky Mountains, to the gulf of Mexico and around the Atlantic coast, we could live within the line, flourish and prosper, as well, if not better, than we donow, with all this so-called extraneous aid. That wall might be an imaginary one, in the shape of a tariff as high as any liberty pole, on all things we do not need.

If I am net right, then certainly I am wrong.

The Cincinnati Guzette, of Wednesday, shronicles the occurrence of one of those terrible tragedies in real life, which, in its own words, "surpass the conceptions of the dramatist, and reveal the terrible earnestness which often exists beneath an exterior the most frivolous and abandoned." The facts are briefly, that a young man named Eugene De Marbais, formerly, as appears from his own written statement, in well-to-do circumand the property of the former and five of the former and five of the latter were killed. The same day another messenger arrived from Chelsea, 15 miles above, bringing a note that the town was surrounded by Indians and they were unomentarily expecting an atown written statement, in well-to-do circumstances, deliberately shot his wife and then himself, to end a life of shame on her part, and one of wretchedness and poverty on his.

It seems that he attempted no less than for times to accomplish his design, probably succeeding at last. At eleven o'clock on the night of the occurrence he called at the house where his wife stopped—a house of assignation—and desired to see her. She replied that she wasn't afraid, or something to that effect, and they went out but had only proceeded ashort distance when De Marhars shot his wife in the street and then himself. The police hearing the pistol reports were attracted to the spot; the woman whose name was Blanche, was sitting up quietly, while he was stretched at full length on the pavement, apparently dead. We give the balance of the story in the Gazette's words, slightly abbrevisted:

Mr. William De Beck of the County Auditor's Office, who accompanied the police, caught a young man by the shoulder, saying — "Pve got you, sir." De Marbais spote up: "There is no one to blame but me. I did it." Policeman McGrew went to Blanche and assisted her to rise. She said: "I came out of the house to die." Then she exclaimed in agony, "Oh, my daughter! Oh, my daughter!" Mr. McGrew asked her where her daughter was. She said she was with the Marsh Troupe, and upon being removed, as she was forthwith, to the Ninth Street Station House, she took off a splendid jet cross, tipped with gold, kissed it, and desire ed it he be sent to her daughter Adele.

Senator Seward in London.—The London correspondent of the N. Y. Times writes:
Mr. Seward has been much sought after here by Whigs who desire to keep up the old reputation of their party for political hospitality. He does not make the same sort of impression among them as Sumner did when he first visited this country as a lion, and his manner is somewhat unfairly contrasted with that of the late Mr. Prescott, Mr. Everett, and other men of eminence from your side of the water, as if all men's ways of talking and thinking could be the same, as if there were thinking could be the same, as if there were thinking could be the same, as if there were not as great diversities between conspicuous persons of this and every other country. It is said when asked by the Queen what he thought of what he had seen of public life in England, Mr. Seward rephed: "Madam, I have come to Europe to study despotism;" to which Her Majesty rather pointedly replied: "I hope you have found nothing of that kind to study here."

—A correspondent of one of the New York papers says:

Much excitement exists at Vienna on account of the quarrels and troubles aroused by the late misfortune in Italy. General Benedek has been dismissed from the service for improved language and in refusery. vice for improper language used in reference to the Imperial orders of retreat given at Solferino. ELECTION OF ETHERICE.—The official returns of the Ninth District of Tennessee have been received at Nashville. Emerson Etheridge, (Opposition,) is elected by seven majority over Atkins, (Democrat.) The vote stood Ethridge 9,437, Atkins 9,430. Two years ago Atkins beat Ethridge 129 votes. It will be remembered that Ethridge opposed the repeal of the Missouri Compromise, and acted with the Anti-Nebraska men in Congress. During the late canvass he defended and justified his former votes and speeches against the Nebraska bill, and his district has sustained the appeal. The soler second thought prevailed. The Democrats denounced him as a Southern free-Soiler, but they took nothing by their metion. took nothing by their motion.

THE SLAVE TRADE.—The New York Herald says: "Our Havana correspondent, writing by the Grenada, states that three cargoes of African slaves were hourly expected at Cienfuegos. The traders were in negotiation for the punchase of a New York barque. Business was very brisk with them.

REPORTED BY THE N. Y. ASSOCIATED PRESS FOR THE DAILY SENTINEL.

Boston, Aug. 19-3 P. M. The Prince Edward's Island Examiner The Prince Edward's Island Examiner describes the tornade of the 5th inst., as the most terrible one ever known on the island, tearing up strong trees, and doing much damage to property. A number of boats in the harbor were upset, one of which contained Fred. Goodwin, son of Hon. C. Goodwin, and Miss Maloney, both of whom were drowned. Several other eases of drowning are reported, and a vessel is supposed to have gone down with all on board—seven persons.

The Examiner fears also for the safety of the fishing vessels, of which there was a large number out. A telegraphic despatch was received at Charlottelown, from New Brunswick, giving notice of the storm twenty minutes before it burst. wants to exchange 10 acres of land with fruit

Republican State Convention.

A Republican State Convention will be held at the City of Madison, in the Assembly Hall of the Capital on Wednesday, the Sist day of August next, at 12 o'clock M., for the purpose of nominating candidates for State officers to be supported by the party at the ensuing general election; and to transact any other business that may properly come before it. As the subject of selecting delegates to the next Na-gates in the Convention.

It is recommended that District Conventions for the selection of delegates be held throughout the State, on or before the 38th day of August, and that committees make early calls for that purpose; and it is especially urged that every district be duly represented in the

Mr. Entran:-"I hope I don't intrude, when I suggest that the subjoined correspondence wants a place in the Sentinel. I believe it is somewhat in accordance with yours, as it is with my own views. As you number among your readers, at least fourfifths of all the Englishmen in Wisconsin, you will be conferring a favor to one of them, if not upon the whole, by giving it a re-publication in your columns. It will be somewhat refreshing to many of us "old countrymen," who have read the fulsome eloquies, by JAMES WATSON WEEE, of the New York Courier and Enquirer, and HENRY J. RAY-MOND, of the New York Times, of the "Nephew of his Uncle." I dare say, Mr. Editor, that both you and I have, when reading those articles I alluded to above-for to both King and commoner, memory often supplies illustrative anecdote-thought of a story told of a certain British Lord, high in place and power, who being intruded on by a friend, while playing marbles with his little son, and being found excited and angry, in reply to a question why the child was reprimanded. answered: "That rescally French tutor has been corrupting the child, and teaching him to lie and steal."

"Spectator," the London correspondent of the New York Commercial Advertiser, writing from London under the date of July 29th,

The sudden announcement, yesterday, in the Moniteur, of the intention of the Emperor Napoleon to reduce his army and navy to a peace footing, can hardly be said to have been prace footing, can hardly be said to have been received by the English public with surprise. The power of placing confidence in any act or declaration of his Majesty is wholly gone, and although there is not a person in England who would not fail to rejoice if they could believe the present statement, it has excited nothing but increased in the protection of the process of the p ther results has been awakened, it is that of creased suspicion.

Whenever his Majesty has made any strong rolession it has always been the precursor a movement in a directly opposite director. His averments of loyalty to the French tion. His averments of loyalty to the French Republic were never so complete as during the week that preceded the coup dictat; his promise that when he had consolidated his position as Emperor, "liberty should crown the edifice;" was the signal for wholesale deportations to Lambessa and Cayenne; his motto that the "Empire is peace!" was reproduced in all its vigor within a few weeks of his insult to the Austrian Ambassador on the 1st of January; his statement that France was not armed and would not arm ushered in the departure for Italy of one of the inest and best leparture for Italy of one of the finest and best equipped armies that ever left the soil : the programme of a free leafy, from the Alps to the Adriatic, was volunteered almost within a few days of the treaty of Villa Franca, and his agreement to supply Kosauth with an army corps in Hungary was scarcely dry, when it was produced at the breakfast table of the Austrian Functor of the Austrian Emperor.

Under these circumstances it may be presumed his Majesty himself would laugh at any nation that would interpret his words in the manner customary among erdinery individ-uals, and it would now be impossible that phrases he might put forth should exoite surphrases he might put forth should execute sur-prise. They may mean something or noth-ing, but at any rate there is no known key to them. Judging from the past, the rule should always be to construe them in a sense should always be to construct them in a sense directly the reverse of their apparent purport. Yet this plan could not be relied on, because his Majesty, finding that so simple a mode of interpretation had been discovered, might on any occasion, when he wished to conceal his real intentions, avow them plainly, and thus, like the American Ambassador, utterly confuse all postice by telling the truth. confuse all parties by telling the truth.

One thing only is certain, namely, that confuse all parties by telling the truth.

One thing only is certain, namely, that His Majesty never promulgates any special resolution without having some design.—
What the design may be in the present instance is a question for each man to conjecture. Perhaps it is to prepare the world for the six-months millenium of an Imperial coronation at the hands of the Pope. Perhaps, on the contrary, it may be the commencement of an intention to raise his forces to the utmost often. with a view of extirnato the atmost pitch, with a view of extirpa-ting heresy before seeking the final triumph of the Pontifical blessing at Notre Dame. The effect produced on the London Stock Exchange, where the Emperor has always had more admirers than could be found in the whole remainder of the United Kingdom, was not complimentary. At the first moment there was a rise of a half per cent, in the course, but the service.

the consols, but the public at once arailed themselves of the advantage and the market returned to within a little of its former point. There is a strange absence of specific intelligence regarding the state of Italy. We hear of the bust of the Emperor being drugged through the storets of any torus which through the streets of one town, while at an other there are preparations for a great dis-play in his honor on the approaching 15th of August—his fete day. In the Duchies the effervescence is represented to be subsiding, while from Bologua we are told of a unanimous determination on the part of the population to resist the re-imposition of the authority of the Pope. Doubtless French and Austrian agents will be actively engaged to make things pleasant, and the unity of the Italian population can be little relied upon to resist such influences. The peasantry being in favor of the old order of things, will be played off against the town recompletion. be played off against the town populations, and by adroit promises, fine sentiments, and masterly delays, all may be brought back to the desired level. Garibaldi, with his devoted band, must constitute the chief stumbling block to the happy arrangements contemplated, and it would probably be hard to imagine a greater unanimity of ferlies than to imagine at, and it would probably be hard to imagine a greater unanimity of feeling than that which inspires Pius the 9th, the Emperor Napoleon and the Emperor of Austria to wish that they were out of the world or in any corner of it but Europe. As to Kossauth, his fate is most likely regarded in Court circles at Paris as the linest practical joke ever concected in an imperial mind.—The altoy in thinking of them both must be

Agricultural. IOW TO AVOID RUST AND MIDGE IN WHEAT

J. A. WHITNEY, in a very interesting article in the Canadian Agriculturalist, recomnends the introduction of Southern wheat as the best means of preventing rust, and withstanding the attacks of the fly, he says that canada is now fully aroused to the importance of this subject. Some of the best farmers in Canada are to be found in the island of Montreal, and more than twenty years ago they tried a series of renedles to find a vulnerable point in their tiny enemy, but their efforts were useless. They top-dressed with various unpalatable substances, they steped the seed in poisonous solutions, avoided seeding with clover, and spread lime broadcast over the standing grain, but the midge was proof against all their attacks. After the experimence of several years, the writer expresses the solution, and they have the standing grain, but the great staple pie of Canada, may yet be saved "and we may be spared the tremendous loss that would fall upon us, had we to go through years of banishment of the wheat plant, as has been the lot of our friends in a neighboring State."

The definction which the writer nakes from the experimence and their makes of the instead of research in the content of several design and the research of corruption, state in the definition of the people, and has present to the world. With the excentive power of the total content of our friends in a neighboring State."

The definition which the writer nakes from the experimence of the last ten years are that in order to escape the fly, wheat naust be either made to ripen late and thereby incurs a great risk of being rusted or grown, or some culture must be adopted in order to cause it to cone into ear earlier than usual. An early variety of winter wheat used for seed is in list opinion the best means of saving the cross from the fly, and from the helpful particans. It was a finished the world with the content of the people, and has presented them and the remember of the last ten years are that in order to escape the fly, wheat naust be delined and detracted, without any recognition that he should be adopted in order to cause it to cone into ear earlier than usual. An early v the best means of preventing rust, and withstanding the attacks of the fly, he says that om the fly, and from the effects of rust. The writer says that he was fold that a far mer in the northern part of the State of New York, had sowed southern wheat, and had been entirely successful in raising an excelent crop; he proceeded to the farm where he found the crop then being harvested, was as it had been described. It was the third time this farmer had raised southern wheat. excaping each time both thy and rust, "while his neighbors, who, from ordinary seed, had tried to raise small patches of winter wheat, lost by the rust anything not eaten by the fly." That he had sowed on the 7th of September, which he considered to be too late, and that his samples were good and such as a miller would like. The writer afterwards saw another field of wheat, forty miles from the first; it was raised from southern wheat and had entirely escaped the fly, as had also the crops of neighbors who had used the same kind of seed, of which not less than three hundred bushels had been distributed in that vicinity. "The seed should be put in by the 1st of September. It is brought from Kentucky where it ripened on the 7th June, and, judging by the time the New York wheat ripened, will be fit to cut here (in Canada) by the 7th or 9th of July. We are of opinion that quite a large breadth of land in New York could this entire the result of the part quite a large breadth of land in New York could, this autumn, be sown with this varie-ty, and we see no reason why Canada should wait until she lose a whole crop, before shi consents to adopt a suggestion which origina-ted among our neighbors, whose ideas were perhaps sharpened by several years light feeding on corn meal and buckwheat flour, as the best substitute for missing "Extra Genesse." We do not recommend our farm-Genesee." We do not recommend our farmers to throw aside their old seed all at once but we say put in a few acres of Southerr wheat, and give it a trial alongside your own."

Now that seed time is approaching, our armers may well profit by the experience Mr. WHITNEY relates. Because they have escaped this season with comparatively little damage from the destroyers, they must not consider themselves exempt from their ravages in future, unless they take the proper precaution to procure that quality of seed which has been ascertained to be least liable to injury from the causes mentioned.

PARMEES SHOULD WORK BY RULE. We commend the following excellent remarks on this subject to our readers in the ' raral districts:

In the earlier days of the Roman Common wealth, when each Homan cultivated his own lands, and was at the same time accustomed to military life—to its discipline and systematic drill—the same system made its appearance in the overstines of the forms. ance in the operations of the farm. Agriculthere was systematized and thorough. And we find to-day that the mechanic, who has devoted a considerable portion of his life at work at his trade, and yet has a respectable when the form the legal and faithful expenditure of knowledge of the requirements of the farm, becomes by habit a more systematic and thorough farmer than those who have no trade and responsible. The vast patronage of the Federal Government will be wielded against us, thorough farmer than those who have no trade and no such dicipline. A reason and prevents loss. Men are not often found who expend money without a return in value.—And yet we find farmers who uso time, and employ labor, very much as the man does who throws down a handful of gold for an insignificant purchase, not waiting to count it. No estimate is made of the cost and its relation to the return. No straightforward direction is given to labor. It is far removed from system, and treads a round about road to results. Will the reader note the names of some of the most sing, systematic and sak them if at some period of their lives they have not wrought at trades requiring system, exactness, thoroughness and thought? We invariably find the best farmers among such men. unless the early discibline of the farmer. successful farmers of his acquaintance, and ask them if at some period of their lives they have not wrought at trades requiring system, exactness, thoroughness and thought? We invariably find the best farners among such men, unless the carly discipline of the farmer boy has been an exception to the rule.

WATER YOUR STOCK.

It should be one of the first considerations in every farmer's mind, these times of drought, more especially, to see that his cattle have a bountiful supply of good fresh water. A correspondent of the Prairie Farmer tells some facts in regard to the advantage of keeping cows well supplied with water: "The offener you water your cattle during the droubt, the more and botter hatter way will droubt, the more and botter hatter way will drouth, the more and better butter you will have-and some say, not the same difficulties in churning it. A small, yet intelligent farmer, once told the writer that his two cows gave three pints more milk when they were votered before than after milking, and after a trial of three successive days." The necessity of plenty of water for working cattle is no less obvious, and no farmer o any experience needs to be told that an abundance of the same articles is indispensible in fattening stock. TO PRESERVE TIMBER.

A member of a farmer's club in Hudson New York, recently exhibited a fence post, which had been in the ground eight years .--Previous to setting it, it had been soaked in a solution of blue vitriol, one pound of blue vitriol being used to twenty quarts of water The post was pine. It is claimed that this solution is good for all kinds of timber exposed to the weather-will preserve it.

THE NEW STEAMERS TO SPEND A DAY AT DETROIT.—The Detroit Advertiser says: We have been requested to announce that the new steamers "Detroit" and "Milwaukee," which have been building at Buffalo, for the Detroit and Milwaukee Kailway Company, to run in connection with the Railway between Milwaukee and Grand Haven, will be here on Wednesday, the 24th inst., about 8 A. M. on their way to the former place. the alloy in thinking of them both must be that such fine colonists for Cayenne should be wasting their time elsewhere.

Lord John Russell made his promised statement on foreign affairs last night, but it was of a dry and hesitating character. The gist of it is that England will not commit herself to join in any conferences for vague purposes, but will probably consent to take part if there should be any general assembliage of the European powers to regulate the future of Italy.

I have all along predicted that time, a year or so, would effect a greater change in the opinion of the American people, in relation to the true character of Louis NAPOLEON, than has ever taken place upon any other subject—for netwithstanding, to many of them, the desire to see "Old England" humbled, if not conquered, has warped their nuderation, the desire to see "Old England" humbled, if not conquered, has warped their nuderation, the thought," still there is the sober second thought, "still there is the sober second the formal will be added to the Protestant Orphan Asylarished the Market and Milwaukee and Crand Haven, will be here on Wednesday, the 24th inst, about 8 A. NUTRITIVE QUALITIES OF THE ONION. NUTRITIVE QUALIFIES OF THE ONION.—
The onion deserves notice as an article of great consumption in this country, and it rises in importance when we consider that in some countries, like Spain and Portugal, it forms one of the common and uninersal supports of life. It is interesting therefore, to know that, in addition to the peculiar flavor which first recommends it, the onion is remarkably nutritions. According to analysis, the dried onion root contains from twenty-five to thirty per cent. of gluten. It ranks, in this respect, with the nutritious pea and the grain of the East. It is not merely as a relish, therefore, that the wayfaring Spaniard relish, therefore, that the wayfaring Spaniard eats his onion with his humble crustof bread, as he sits by the refreshing spring; it is he cause experience has long proved that, like the chees, of the English laborer, it helps to sustain his strength also, and adds—beyond what its bulk would suggest—to the amount of nourishment which his simple meal supplies.—Harrisburg Union.

A Specimen of Missouri Banking.

From the St. Louis Democrat, Aug. 17th Letters received to-day by two of our Banking Houses, from correspondents at Hannital, Mo., show a very nice state of affairs, truly: They state that a gentleman left Hannibal on Saturday last, (13th) with $11,000 of bank notes on the branch bank of the State of Missouri at Chillicothe, for redemition—that he presented the Already do we hear many able ones among them denomining this act, and offering to go to Chillicothe and give the noble 75 an opportunity of trying to drive them away. The better men of the Banks, themselves, deprecated any such course. They say there is it into existence and faithful to the fundamental principle upon which it was erected. Experience has only served to strengthen the conviction of its absolute necessity, in the reformation of the National Government, and of the wisdom and justice of its purposes and aims.

Although some of the exciting incidents of the election of 1856 have been partially disposed of by the energy, enterprise and valor of a free people, the duty of Republicans to adhere to their principles, as enacted at Philadelphia, and to labor for their ustablishment, was never more pressing than at this Banks permitting such treatment to their metals of Banks permitting such treatment treatm

TESTIMONIAL.

BOSTON, July 19, 1807, MESSEE, J. BUNNETT & CO.—I cannot refuse to state the salutary effect in my own aggravated case, of your excellent Hair Oil—(Cononine.)

For many months my hair has been failing off, until I was fearful of losing it entirely. The skin upon my head became gradually more and more inflamed, so that I could not touch it without pain. This irritated condition I attributed to the use of various atvertised bair washes, which I have since been told contain camphene apirit.

By the advice of my physician, to whom you had shown your process of purifying the Oil. I semmenc-shown your process of purifying the Oil, I commenced its use the last week in funce. The first application allayed the iching and irritation; in three or four days the reduces and tendermess disappeared—the hair censed to fail, and I have now a thick growth of new hair I trust that others, similarly afflicted will be induced to try the same remedy. Yours, very truly, SUSAN R. POPE.

UP THE RILL A BERRYING. On a sunny summer morning,
Early as the dow was dry,
Up the hill I went a berrying;
Need I tell you—tell you why?
Farmer Davis had a daughter,
And it happened that I knew,
On each sunny summer morning, Jenny,
Up the hill went berrying too,

Lonely work is picking berries,
So jotaed her on the hill;
'Yenry dear,' said I, 'Your basket's Quie too large for one to fill.'
So we staid—we two—to fill it.
Jenny talking—I was still—
Leading where the hill was steep,
Picking berries up the hill.

"This is up-hill business," said Jenny;
"So is life," said I, "shall we
Climb it each alone, or, Jenny,
Will you come and climb with me?"
Redder than the blushing berries
Jenny's cheeks w moment grew,
While, without delay, she answered,
"I will come and climb with you."

Russia and the Late War-Her Polley and Intentions. The St. Petersburg correspondent of the New York Herald, alluding to the surprise with which the Russian people were taken by the announcement of peace, says: If the public in general, however, were un-If the public in general, however, were un-prepared for the peace, there is reason to be-lieve that this was far from being the con-with the government. An active exchange of telegraphic messages had been kept up for some days previous between Prince Gorischa-koff, our embassador in Paris, and Mr. Bala-bin, Minister at Vienna; and a special envoy, Count Shouvaloff, had been despatched to the headquarters of the Emperor Napoleou with confidential communications, the particulars of which can only be guessed at, but which were probably not without influence on the pacific resolutions of the French monarch. It has been the object of this government all along to prepent the war from spread.

on the parent resolutions of the French monarch. It has been the elject of this government all along to prevent the war from spreading beyond its original limits, and nothing could be more unfounded than the assertions of the English press that a private arrangement has been entered into between Russia and France for altering the map of Europe, dividing Turkey, resuscitating Hungary, invading England, and I know net what besides. The fact is, that it is the interest of Russia to keep out of all entanglements for the next two or three years at least, if it can be done without damaging her political status; and it was her anxious desire; therefore, to put an end to a war which promised to lead her to such entanglements. At present we are engaged in internal reforms which occupy all our attention.

First and foremost is the serf question, which must be settled by the end of this or

First and foremost is the serf question, which must be settled by the end of this or the beginning of next year, and will have to be accompanied by a complete change in the system of recruiting for the army. Till now the recruits were all taken from the serf class, and they were partly indemnified for their long term of military servitude by becoming freemen at its expiration. In future, therefore, either the time of service will have to be curtailed, or other advantages offered them in lieu of it—for instance, grants of government lands for them and their families government lands for them and their familie government lands for them and their families on retiring from the army.

The state of our finances is a second point that nakes peace desirable. Mr. Knajevitch was in a fair way of getting them into proper order, through his arrangements with Messrs.

Thompson, Borar & Co; but they were interrupted by the crisis, and he must now endeavor to renow his negoticines which this deavor to renew his negotiations, which this time, it is hoped, will be attended with bet-time, it is noped, will be attended with better success.

Finally, of the great network of railroads commenced in 1857, two of the principal lines, from St. Petersburg to Warsaw, and from Moscow to Nijnii Novoragod, will be completed in 1861, and we shall then have a continuous railway communication from the Vistula and the Baltic to the Volga, or from the western and northern limits of the empire to its centre. By that time also, the railway to the south will have made considerable progress, and thus the slowness of internal communication, which was felt so severely during the Oriental war, will be in a great measure remedied, and the military force of flussia doubled or trebled by the facility with which large masses can be moved give rest to yourselves, and retief and health to your niants. Perfectly safe in all cases.

This ratuable preparation is the prescription of one of the most experienced and skillful Female Physicians in New Rogiand, and has been used with never failing success in millions of cases. n war: the railroad works would be stoppe or at any rate would cease to be prosecuted with the energy which has been exhibited during the last two years; the financial burthens would be increased by new loans, contracted on the most unfavorable terms, and the emancipation question would either have to be shelved altogether at the risk of a service issurrection, or hurriedly and imperfectly solved amidst the din of arms. In short, for the present, peace is the true policy of Russia, and here is hardly a doubt that the

for the present, peace is the true policy of Russia, and here is hardly a doubt that the influence of our government has been excited in this sense, not only in Berlin and Frankfort, but at Villafranca and Verona. The grudge of our Premier against Austria was assisted; if she had helped to rob us of a few thousand acres of waste land on the Danube, she had lost a kingdom in return; so, after paying off old scores, it is not unlikely we may be very good friends again in future.

The troops that have been marching towards the Western frontier have received orders to stay where they are, and not proceed any further. The Guards had not left the vicinity of our capital, and indeed the military preparations had been all on so moderate any further. The guards had not left the vicinity of our capital, and indeed the military preparations had been all on so moderate vicinity and the second make the west of their being engaged in active operations. It may not be superfluous to notice, however, that the whole army has been pushed considerably further west than it was the commencement of this year, when several divisions were quartered as far East as Veromesh and Niphi Novorogod, that the reserves which were called out some time ago have not been disbanded again, and that, consequently, if the preliminaries of pace should not lead to a final pacification, the Russian forces will be much nearer the seeme of action, and be able to appear upon it much sooner than they could have done six months since.

SEA BATHEC A CURE FOR LOVE.—A correspondent writing from Newport says:

Young men—youths of America—ardent strangers—lake warning, and before you marry, propose a trip to Newport, and get the beloved object of your affections to indulge in sea bathing, and you drive down and see her do it—and oh! if you like her as well are the trial, be assured yours is a love in a silks and crinolines—a love likely to beyon. Set you may go in safely and win; last, and a case, you were taken by the but if, as in m. Sequer of Mrs. Stunner—elegant, sylph-like. I the logical inference the abundant form, and from the known to the unament, and had from the known to the unament, and had lain awake bemoaning that she to be being carried off by a fit, and your self proposing to the widow; if, I say, you're enchantment arose from the outward visible beauty, threading the maze of the dance, or giving an indescribable undulation in the promenade—why, then don't go and see Mrs. Stunner bathe, or you will never believe that that figure, half man and half woman, with snipe-like extremities, and with all absence of roundness, can be the bank wherein you last night deposited your heart's affections. That Mrs. Stunner! How you laugh in your sleeves the next time you meet Mr. S., and how you enjoy the next victim you see melting beneath those flashing eyes. Your mortified vanity is quite appeased, and you are reconciled to your bachelor fate.

Now there is no excuse for these "charmers" to make such "guys" of themselves.—Run over to Dieppe and see the killing costumes that your Parisieme adopts under precisely similar circumstances. But let us go on. You raturn to the hotel, and ind the majority sitting on the lalcony, with feet in the air, and new spaper in hand, more promenced.
